Edward Joseph Walker
1877 - 1941

When Edward Joseph Walker created the perfect toffee recipe back in the 1890s little did he realise what he had started! His recipe has become a favourite with people worldwide.

Our founder's legacy and the late Mr Ian Walker's (1936-2017) dedication to making quality toffee with just good ingredients are still very much valued today. We know the importance of staying true to our original recipe and listening to our customers.

We consider it to be the best and hope you agree.

Walker's Nonsuch Toffee takes its name from the famous Nonsuch Palace, built by Henry VIII to be the palace of all palaces.

Try it and we think you will agree there's no other toffee quite like Nonsuch toffee.
